MEMBERS OF THE LIQUOR DEALERS' ASSOCIA-TION NOT MOLESTED SINCE HE " PUT HIS FOOT DOWN HARD"- SOME THINGS HE DUDN'T TELL ABOUT,

Morris Teknisky, who was re-elected president of the State Liquor Dealers' Association at Syracuse on Thursday, and received a costly diamond-studded gavel, valued at $500, from his New-York coltion to the police system of blackmailing liquor dealers in this city. It was said that although a Tammany man himself, and one of Police Justice Divver's most efficient lieutenants in the IId Assembly Dis-trict, much of Tekulsky's voting strength in the convention came from his promise that the pay-ment of toll to police officials should be stopped. But Mr. Tekulsky said after his return that there was a singular misapprehension as to his attitude

When I was elected president two years ago," he explained,"there was a good deal of indiscrim-inate blackmail by the police of which liquor-dealers were victims, but eighteen months ago, after ers were victims, but eighteen months ago, after 1 had fairly got into the harness, I put my foot down hard and brought such practices to an end. Now there is no such thing as blackmailing liquor men by the police—at least so far as members of our association are concerned. Of course, I cannot meak for a such as the concerned of course, I cannot speak for dealers who are not members."

Did you have much trouble enforcing your theory upon the police that members of the Liquor Association must be let alone?" the reelected president was asked.

"Not a great deal," and Mr. Tekulsky winked shrewdly at the reporter. I did have a little trouble with one policeman, who couldn't get the situation through his thick head, but I settled him by having him transferred. Other policemen took warning by his fate, so that these practices ceased."

Mr. Tekulsky added that he was on friendly terms with Tammany Hall, and continued to be a member of that organization. Reports that he was antagonistic to the Wigwam chiefs were nonsensical. But he failed to explain how members of the association of liquor dealers were protected from police raids. He neglected to tell about the size of the fund which the association raised from the individual members, and how it was distributed where it would do the most good—a part going into the Tammany Hall campaign fund and how much of the contributions of the dealers went to buy the favor of police officials. The convenience of a liquor association treasury had been practically demonstrated.

Much kicking and grumbling is reported among patrolmen, roundsmen, sergeants and ward detectives, who used to enjoy their share in the proceeds of the weekly and monthly "round-up" from agonistic to the Wigwam chiefs were nonsensical. much of the contributions of the dealers went to buy the favor of police officials. The convenience

My Dear Senator: I am glad to know that you are in the field as a candidate for renomination, and beg leave to assure.

You that you have my best wishes for your success. My attention has expon your course to some newspaper to be supported by them and the support of the public leaves to some of the matters referred with regard to some of the matters referred to, but our disagreements during our four years' service together have been very few, while our agreements have been many. It strikes me that a legislator ought of the particular measure. In the particular matters in issue, that your record in the Senate, taken as a whole, reflects great credit upon you. Your colleagues will all bear witness that you have been as strong particular measure in issue, that your record in the Senate, taken as a whole, reflects great credit upon you. It has been estimated by well-informed persons that less than half of the children attending school in New-York get out of the city, unless it be by means of The Tribune's Fresh Air Fund, and other similar charities. Most of these children have spent the summer months on Manhattan Island, where they have had little chance of seeing green fields. New-York, however, has so many facilities for Robert Maclay, chairman of the Building Committee, said to a Tribune reporter, "The sanitary condition of the New-York public schools, especially in the old buildings downtown, is not by any means the best, and if I succeed in better-ing it and putting them all in a perfectly healthful condition, I shall consider that I have done my duty to the public school system. A few minutes before he left the city he was overgome with grief and walked from his rooms on Caihounest, to the Rich Hotel. In the office his strength failed and he fell fainting. He laid the blame for the accident upon himself and sent a message to the coroner of Cook County requesting him to release all of the men held for the accident, as all of them were entirely innocent.
